

Short bio-sketch:

Dora graduated with a Degree in Chemistry from University of Ioannina and a PhD in Life Science from University of Nottingham. She worked at University of Manchester and UCL as a postdoc in the areas of oxidative stress, protein aggregation, prions and ageing. She then moved to the The Francis Crick Institute as a Principal Laboratory Research Scientist, where her focus on m6a was initiated, and recently at University of Thessaly as an Assistant Professor.